Late Foreign Intelligence.

PARIS, Feb. 1.

According to the Moniteur, the Corvette La Fawrette has taken an English goelette, in the Mediterranean, carrying 12 nine pounders, carronades, and 39 men, which left Malta, on a cruise on the 12th January.

The Councillor of State, Forfatti, is arrived at Havre.

A ship-builder, at Rouen, has offered to government 200,000 livres for the wreck of the English frigate, the Shannon.

They write from Grenville, of the 6th Pluviose (Jan. 27) that six men of the crew of the English frigate the Cerberus, stationed in the bay of Cancale, had deserted with the boat, and arrived on the 1st (Jan. 22) at Granville. They were sent to Caen the next day.

The privateer Le Vengeur of Boulogne, has sent in the English sloop the Benryu, of 80 tons. This is the fifth prize taken by this privateer.

LONDON, Feb. 16

Extract of a letter from Vienna, January 25.

"As our differences with Bavaria, are not finally adjusted, and the critical situation of the continent demands at least vigilance and precaution, our court has ordered the formation of three armies upon the frontiers of Bavaria. The first is collecting in Bohemia, under the command of Prince Lichtenstein. It is composed of 9 regiments of cavalry, and infantry, and a large train of artillery, from the arsenal of Badweiss, and other fortresses under the command of the General of Artillery, Swarkinger. The second army under the command of Lieutenant General Prince Swartzenberg, is provisionally assembling near Lintz, and will consist of twenty thousand men. The troops for this army are drawn from the garrisons of the Upper and Lower Austria. The artillery of this camp is to be commanded by General Schrebag. The third army is collecting in Upper Suabia and in the Tyrol, and is to be more numerous than either of the former; but its commander is not yet appointed. It is said here that these, though purely defensive measures have occasioned the warlike preparations of the French in Italy, and the augmentation of their troops along the Rhine. We are however perfectly convinced here, that unless a closer connection shall take place with Russia, or France, Prussia or Bavaria, shall give still greater provocation than any yet offered, our government is determined to preserve its neutrality. Five regiments are ordered to march towards the Turkish frontier, to cause our eastern provinces to be respected by the rebels under Paswan Oglu, and the revolted Janissaries at Belgrade, to make daily incursions upon their borders to collect plunder. The rumor of an offensive and defensive alliance with Russia is very common in our diplomatic circles; and the assemblage of three numerous Russian armies is generally believed, exclusive of the army in Livonia. One army is collecting in Volunia, and another in Padolia."

A letter from Bremen, dated Feb. 1, says:—"A curious diplomatic or consular dispute has taken place here; on the 29th of December inst. our senate celebrated the Jubilee of the Syndic de Post. Of all the commercial agents residing here, no one was invited to the grand dinner given on the occasion, except Citizen Lague, French Vice Commissary. The other Consuls, the Austrian, the British, (Mr. Hayman,) the Prussian, Danish, &c. resented this, and on the 10th of January sent a note to the presiding Burgomaster, complaining of the distinction shewn to the French Vice-Commissary and requiring an explanation. The Senate said that they could not notice the demand made by the said Consul, (who are all merchants and citizens of Bremen.) Upon this, the Consuls sent another note to the Senate, declaring that they found themselves obliged to send an account of the transaction to their respective governments."

It is said that Moreau has absolutely refused to be admitted into the Legion of honor; assigning as the reason, that he could not enter into it, unless his whole army were to accompany him.

His Majesty's brig Locust, at anchor off Boulogne, Tuesday, Feb. 14.

I take the opportunity of a cutter going into the Downs, to continue the correspondence which you flatter me is so pleasing to you. We are now at anchor inside the bank in Boulogne Bay, in company with the Leopard of fifty guns, capt. Owen; the Squirrel of 20 guns; Leda frigate, the Archer, gun-brig and some cutters.

Last Sunday about twelve o'clock, we were cruising off Cape Grisnez, between Calais and Boulogne, we discovered two French luggers, creeping round the Cape, as the wind rather blew off the land, Lieutenant Leake thought it possible to cut them off; this we attempted; even more appeared; we kept up a brisk fire at them for about an hour and a half, they endeavouring to keep close by the land; the sea ran high, by the wind getting up, which rendered our firing ineffectual, but to prove our best endeavours were exerted, we even ran in among the breakers; upon trying with the lead, we found only about 13 feet of water; we draw about 12 feet; and at this time the shot from a battery on shore were whistling over our heads; the luggers availed themselves of the necessity we were under of bearing off from the land, and made their escape to Boulogne; they fired but few shot. The Archer gun-brig being in sight, came up, and rendered us as much assistance as possible, but was not so near in with the land as we were. After this the wind increased; we had a very heavy sea to encounter all night; at day light next morning we discovered the Griffin cutter chasing a French schooner to the westward; we immediately set all the sail we could, thinking to cut her off from the land; we ran so close along the French shore, that the soldiers employed horses to drag field-pieces along the beach to keep even with our course to fire at us, which they did very briskly; the schooner, after a very active fire from the cutter, got under the batteries and escaped; so, that though we cannot boast of any victory, we can say with the Poet,

'Tis not in mortals to command success,
But we'll do more, *****
We'll deserve it.

"It is, however, very vexing, that with all our vigilance, they are continually adding to the very numerous flotilla in Boulogne harbor; and, perhaps, it is as vexing to the French that we dare anchor on their own coast, in defiance, in sight of that deluded army, who anticipate the ruin and plundering of England, but whose projects, I trust, will be rendered abortive, without a severe trial of that patriotism and loyalty which animate beyond all former example the regular military and volunteers of Great-Britain."

February 18.

At a late hour last night we received a variety of extracts from the Paris Journals, to the 31st ult. They contain no intelligence of importance. They mention the march of the cavalry from Campagne for Boulogne; and the conviction of a few persons accused of having contrived some curious instrument for the destruction of the First Consul. This plot is, as usual, attributed by the Moniteur to English agency.

The latest accounts from our squadron off Boulogne state, that the Leopard, Leda, Immortalite, Squirrel, Locust, Archer, Dutchess of Cumberland, and Griffin cutters, remained at anchor close to Boulogne harbour the whole of Sunday Monday, Tuesday, and almost all Wednesday. They observed that the addition of force at Boulogne of late has been very considerable. There are upwards of 120 sail of brigs, schooners, &c. exclusive of gun boats, in all not less than 800 sail. The principal part have moored up the harbour into the different new basons which have been made.

On Sunday the Immortalite, Dutchess of Cumberland, and Griffin cutters, attacked some gun boats between Cape Grisnez and Boulogne, on their way to the latter. A severe fire was kept up from the batteries on shore, upon our vessels, but without doing them any injury. The Immortalite shot away the mast of one of the gun boats.

For upwards of an hour on Wednesday morning our squadron was becalmed. The enemy perceived it, and a fire was lighted on the heights, which was supposed to be a signal for attack. Great bustle was immediately perceived, and the pier head was crowded with soldiers, and others dragged out gun boats to attempt the attack on our squadron, for which they considered the circumstances as favourable. A breeze springing up, however, they again returned into harbour.

At break of day on Wednesday last a prodigious volume of smoke was observed from several parts of the coast for four hours, in the direction of Boulogne, and at intervals the horizon above that place, seemed entirely illuminated. This phenomenon has given rise to various conjectures, and it is supposed that it was occasioned by a conflagration of the enemy's flotilla, which by some means had caught fire. It is reported also that some of the French troops have laid down their arms, and that the utmost dissatisfaction prevails along the whole coast. The poor deluded wretches who compose the French army destined for the expedition against this country, are it is said sunk into despondency, and have lost all hopes of ever being able to effect a landing, as they are so closely watched by our blockading squadron, the commanders of which are certainly entitled to the highest praise for their perseverance, having remained at anchor close to Boulogne during so tempestuous weather.

Yesterday morning there was some firing off

Calais, and a prize was brought into Dover the afternoon.

It is calculated that the enemy's naval equipment at Boulogne, will contain upwards of half a thousand men, and it is the opinion of most of the officers in the squadron in the Downs that the enemy will immediately attempt some thing if they ever intended any thing.

Accounts we understand, were yesterday received of Bonaparte being actually on the coast, issuing his final orders relative to the expedition against this country. The troops are said to be already embarked at several of the ports, and sleep on board every night; but if their intention really be to put to sea, the vigilance of our cruisers has hitherto given them no opportunity of accomplishing that object. The present fluctuating situation of his Majesty's may, perhaps induce the enemy to hasten the execution of his project.

A letter received from a Spanish port says, "The apparent probability of this country's immediate alliance with France, set our English Commissioners in such a panic that they have done nothing since the war was declared; however, the cloud is at length dispersed, and the neutrality of Spain is ratified. Spanish vessels now again load for England, and the countenance of the people is changed amazingly."

NEW YORK, March 25.

Captain Moran, from Cape Francois, informs, that the Brigands have fitted out a number of privateers, and will convey all American vessels through the life that will pay them for it. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the 29th of October last, a negro man slave named B O B, about 20 years of age, five feet nine inches high straight limbed and well formed; said slave hath an impediment in his speech which prevents him, readily replying to a question. He commonly wears ear-rings. He took with him a variety of good clothing, a description of which is unnecessary, as it is probable he has changed them. He has been frequently seen about town since he absconded, and in all probability is now secreted by his mother, Winney Brown, formerly the slave of Mr. JOHN MUIR, late of this town, but now said to be free. The above reward will be paid for securing said Negro B O B, in any goal, and a further reward of TEN DOLLARS for the discovery of those who have been accessory to his abscondment.

Captain's of vessels, &c. are forewarned at their peril, not to take him away.

ROBERT B. JAMESON.

5,335 prizes—5,335 blanks—not twice a prize.

15,000 tickets at 10 dollars each, 15,000 N. B. Prizes subjected to a deduction of fifteen per cent.

This lottery has been authorized by the legislature of Virginia, for the laudable purpose of erecting a seminary of learning in or near the metropolis of this State. With this view, it is contemplated to raise 20,000 dollars, and 2,500 dollars in addition, for defraying the expenses attendant on drawing the lottery. Citizens of the first respectability have been selected as trustees, and they have pledged themselves to use their utmost exertions to carry it into effect. The scheme has the advantage of giving to each adventurer, a chance for some very large prizes, whilst the proportion of prizes to blanks, is so great as to invite the friends of the intended institution to partake of the lottery, with very little risk of their becoming losers. The treasurer of this State is to be appointed to receive the money for the tickets as they are sold, and to pay the amount of the prizes to the fortunate adventurers. It is believed that the above considerations will induce a rapid sale of tickets and the drawing will commence as soon as a sufficient number shall be sold to authorize it—which it is believed will be on the second Monday in December next.

Richmond, January 31, 1804.

TICKETS to be had of Robert Pollard, Dr. J. Breckenbrough, jun. Wm. Price, (Reg.) Samuel Pleasants, jun. and Wm. Prichard.

WHEREAS

my two tracts of land in the county of King George known by the name of Eagles Nest and Somerford, which have for many years past, with the slaves, stock of every kind, furniture and plantation utensils thereon, been under the management of Benjamin Grymes, (and which were lent by me to him, for the support of his family during his life) having in consequence of his decease reverted to me; and it being my wish and intention that all his just debts should be discharged as fast as the money can be raised, either from the profits of the above named Estates, or by a sale of such of the perishable property as can best be spared. It is my request that all who have claims against the late Benjamin Grymes will bring them in fairly stated, and legally authenticated as soon as they conveniently can, either to Mr. William Fitzhugh Grymes who resides at Eagle Nest or to me in Alexandria. And it is also my request, that all persons who are indebted to the deceased, or to the said Estates, will discharge their balances as soon as possible, either to W. F. Grymes, or to me.

William Fitzhugh.
